Selectmen Stand Pat On Land

Despite concerted efforts of Andover Village Improvement Society members to have tax-title land bordering the Shawsheen River given to the Conservation Commission, the selectmen Tuesday night stood pat on their original action of holding onto the land themselves.

Letters have been sent to newspapers and to the selectmen during the past two weeks by AVIS people urging that the two lots between the Gillette and Reichhold buildings be given to the Conservation Commission, instead of the selectmen holding them.

Chairman Robert A. Watters had previously explained the board's position, explaining that for the present the board chose to hold onto the lots but would not arbitrarily release them. He noted the acreage is in an industrial zone, and the board was cognizant that the land bordered the Shawsheen River.

Selectman William Stewart spoke out against the AVIS actions of the past two weeks, noting that the board was well aware of pollution problems in the Shawsheen. He said, with regard to the AVIS drive, he did not like pressure tactics and "I, for one, don't like being pushed."

Claus O. Dengler, president of AVIS said the only appeal was to have the lots given to the control of the Conservation Commission, for conservation purposes.

The land could be used for recreation and also as protection of the Shawsheen river, Dengler said.

Selectman Roger W. Collins commented that he thought the letter which appeared in public print was disparaging to Chairman Watters.

Collins went on to say that the land was valuable and expensive as it now stands in industrial classification. As such it is worth in the vicinity of $10,000 per acre, while as conservation land it would be $3,000. Later in the meeting Collins said he did not think any member of the board would sacrifice the riverbank.

Selectman Sidney P. White asked the AVIS members about their sudden interest, noting there was

Residents Assured Information

Shawsheen residents were assured by the selectmen Tuesday night that any requests presented them by Bryant-McIntosh college for use of the former Parker House Inn would be made public and they would be kept informed.

The college has leased the building and plans as announced two weeks ago, but not finalized, call for the building to be used as a combined dormitory as well as classroom space for its hotel-motel management course.

Several Shawsheen residents expressed concern when the announcement was made about a month ago and appeared before the selectmen to protest proposed use of the building.

Atty. Domenic Terranova is spokesman for the group which presented petitions to the board.

Chairman Robert A. Watters told the group Tuesday that no further information or requests for licenses had come to the board. Officials still feel the building can be used for a dormitory under the present zoning bylaws, he said. The chairman said that Building

Patriotism And Heritage Stressed

Patriotism and heritage was the theme for Commander Raymond R. Couture, USNR, Monday morning during the principal Memorial Day program at Memorial Auditorium.

Despite threatening weather, veterans groups, town officials, military units, scouts and civic organizations formed for the annual parade at 9:30 a.m. and marched to the auditorium for the 10 a.m. service.

Commander Couture began his address by tracing the history of the Memorial Day observance which began in Mississippi during the Civil War in 1863.

In 1868, it became a national observance, he noted.

He said that in the address at the first national observance given by the then General Garfield, later to become President, stressed the patriotism of the men who answered the call to duty in time of need.

Speaking of this particular Memorial Day, he noted that the sacrifice made by those being honored, was "for America and all Americans. This is part of our heritage and on Memorial Day we should reflect on that heritage."

"Today, on this Memorial Day, let us not only honor these brave men, but also rededicate ourselves to the principles of our founding fathers and to all that is meant by patriotism," he concluded.

The program was opened by the playing of the National Anthem, followed by a prayer delivered by Rev. Joseph F. Gill, O.S.A. of St. Augustine's parish.

Daniel N. Ford, a Boy Scout, delivered the Gettysburg Address and a hymn was played by the William B. Russell band.

The recitation of Flanders Field was by Gail S. Young representing the Girl Scouts.

Commander Benjamin M. Brown of American Legion Post 8 introduced Chairman Robert A. Watters of the selectmen who brought the greetings of the town and introduced Commander Couture.

Commander Gordon Cannon and Mrs. Katherine Quinn, president of Ladies Auxiliary to Post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars, placed a floral tribute.

Benediction was by Rev. J. Everett Bodge, minister of South Church.

A volley by the combined firing squads, followed by the sounding of taps and echo, concluded the service.

The parade re-formed, then proceeded to Memorial Tower at

Bancroft School Wins Architectural Honor

Bancroft Elementary School brings highest credit to its architect, William Warner of Providence, R. I., and to the Andover community by winning the nation's highest professional recognition for architectural excellence - a coveted American Institute of Architects Honor Award.

The local elementary school, which opened last spring, is one of 14 AIA Honor Award winners for 1970, picked from 478 outstanding entries from all over the country.

Bancroft shares top honors with such new structures as New York's celebrated Whitney Museum of American Art, Chicago's Lake Point Tower, the Milwaukee Center for the Performing Arts, the Squaw Valley Cable Car Terminal in Olympic Valley, Calif., as well as an historic preservation project San Francisco's Cannery, and Washington D. C.'s National Portrait Gallery, a preservation and restoration project.

The awards will be presented at the AIA national convention in Boston, June 21-25.

Only one other public school, the Lincoln School in Columbus, Ind., was an Honor Award Winner and the panel of judges singled them out for special praise.

"The two elementary schools selected for awards deserve some special comment. Quite different as they are, in concept and in execution, they impressed the jurors with a special sense of con-to help them achieve an open exchange of ideas.

Over 40 adult leaders have held two meetings to narrow themselves down to the 16 who will meet on an equal basis with an equal number of students, in the discussions.

Already committed to the program are Mr. Maynard Austin, Police Chief David Nicoll, Dr. Albert J. Greenberg, Robert A. Watters, chairman of the board of selectmen, Dr. Kenneth Seifert, Supt. of Schools, Philip Wormwood, high school principal, Fred Harrison, Dr. Richard Katz, Rev. Richard Woodman, Robert Henderson, Mrs. Eartha Dengler, Dr. James O'Shea, Willis Gray, Mrs. Lee Dodd and Mrs. Jerome E. Andrews, Jr.

Rev. Richard Woodman, minister of the Unitarian-Universalist church, has been selected as interim head of the adult group. Rev. Mr. Woodman said the next job was to secure the 13 teenage members of the Teenage-Adult Collaborative Committee. He said it would be most important for the success of the project that:

1. The youth be truly representative of the total youth community. Every teenager in this community should be able to feel that at least one youth on this committee speaks for his concerns and represents his interests.

2. These persons be selected by the youth and not be appointed by adults.

Selectmen Spare Tree

The selectmen Tuesday night spared a maple tree.

The board had been requested to take such action in view of the pending demolition of the Central fire station.

The tree is located in the grassed plot to the side of the station and is a stately one.

The board unanimously voted to be sure that nothing happened to it when plans for taking down the old station are made.

Commencement Nears For AHS Seniors

The high school years of nearly 360 Andover seniors are winding to a close, as the regular structure of classes gives way to "last times" and rehearsals, with unaccustomed chunks of spare time in between.

Andover High School seniors had their last full day of classes Tuesday, and were off to Wentworth-by-the-Sea Wednesday for their Class Day.

Today, they make a brief appearance at school for a 1 p.m. rehearsal of the last Senior Assembly.

The Senior Assembly, Friday at 8:15 a.m. will bring the graduating class together for their last official meeting before graduation. After the Senior Assembly, to which parents are welcome, the seniors will receive their yearbooks, fresh off the press.

Tomorrow evening the Custodians' Dance will be in full swing, a final festivity to share with the school as a whole. The dance is being provided by the high school custodians, to raise scholarship money for the senior's higher education.

Then comes probably the sweetest pleasure -- a week off for the seniors to relax, maybe catch a suntan at the beach - while the rest of the Andover student body is still going to classes and studying for exams. The seniors' only school obligation is a 10 a.m. rehearsal on the morning of graduation, next Friday.

Graduation will be Friday, June 5, at 5 p.m. at Lovely Field, and the Andover public is welcome to the ceremonies. In case of rain, the graduation will be held in the gymnasium, and there admittance must be by ticket only, because of space limitations.

Graduates

Miss Julie Shelley Hobart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Hobart, 3 Longwood Drive, received a bachelor of arts degree from Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., Sunday, May 24 at commencement exercises.

Her major field of study was fine arts.

During her college career, Miss Hobart was a member of Orchesis, modern dance organization, and performed in many of its concerts.

Barbara Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Young of 63 Bailey Road, Andover, has been elected

Miss Young, a sophomore, majoring in elementary education is also treasurer of her class. She is active in student senate serving on committees with faculty and administration. She is a graduate of Andover High school, class of 1968.

DEDICATED SERVICE - Cleveland Gilcreast, right, of 243 Highland Road, a lecturer in distribution at Northeastern University, Boston, was recently honored with a plaque commemorating 15 years of service as a member of the faculty of the school's University College. ## ECOLOGY NEWS

The ecology movement is not, and should not be, a movement reserved for designated Earth Days and Clean-Up Days. Clearly, the problems it seeks to solve, be they pollution from industry, sewage from homes, exhaust from vehicles, unnecessary births, or nuclear fallout, are not limited to these specific days. Rather, they are elements of an ever present and rapidly expanding destruction of the world in which we live. The ecology movement is, then, engaged in a struggle against time and apathy to save the human species from disaster.

To this end Andover ecology activists of all ages have been expanding their activities since Earth Day. The Andover Village Improvement Society, originally concerned only with setting aside beautiful tracts of land, has now taken on a very active interest in combatting pollution. They participated in the Earth Day activities and are now hard at work cleaning up the Shawsheen River.

Concerned students from Andover High School, Phillips Academy, Abbot Academy, and the Junior High Schools have since December joined in organizing activities such as Earth Day.

Since then, the students have been focusing their efforts on stores within the town, with respect to pesticides, phosphates in detergents, and no deposit-no return bottles.

Concerned students are now circulating a petition among local consumers above the age of 21 asking supermarkets and hardware stores to stop selling DDT, DDD, Aldrin, Dieldrin, Endrin, Toxaphene, Heptachlor, Chlordane, BHC, or any insecticidal products containing any of these.

In addition the petition asks that the herbicides 2,4D and 2,4,5T be removed from the market. The Agriculture Department has instituted bans on the interstate sale of these herbicides for use around human habitations, ponds and riverbanks, and prepared a list of the 267 commercial products using 2,4,5T as a warning to customers.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is trying to ban all the pesticides listed above, since they have all been found to be either mutagenic (mutation-causing), teratogenic (birth defect-causing), and/or carcinogenic (cancer-causing). But the chemical companies have initiated stalling proceedings in court which could drag on for years. The state has laws against many of the pesticides, but they apply only to outdoor use and are unenforceable. The student petition therefore seeks a more immediate local ban. 600 signatures have already been obtained.

Andover's Town Hall has offered its services in helping townspeople get rid of dangerous pesticides. If you have any pesticides you want to dispose of, phone 475-0567 at Town Hall to arrange for them to be picked up. Please place all pesticides in plastic bags.

The Co-Op has already removed the dangerous pesticides from its shelves. The manager, Ray Fuller, has also decided to emphasize low phosphate detergents and returnable bottles.

We shall continue to press for changes at the consumer level. We shall also continue our campaign to clear the Shawsheen River of trash, sewage, and industrial waste. In addition we will work to elect representatives concerned about our environment in November. All our various activities as well as current information will be relayed to our fellow townspeople through this column.

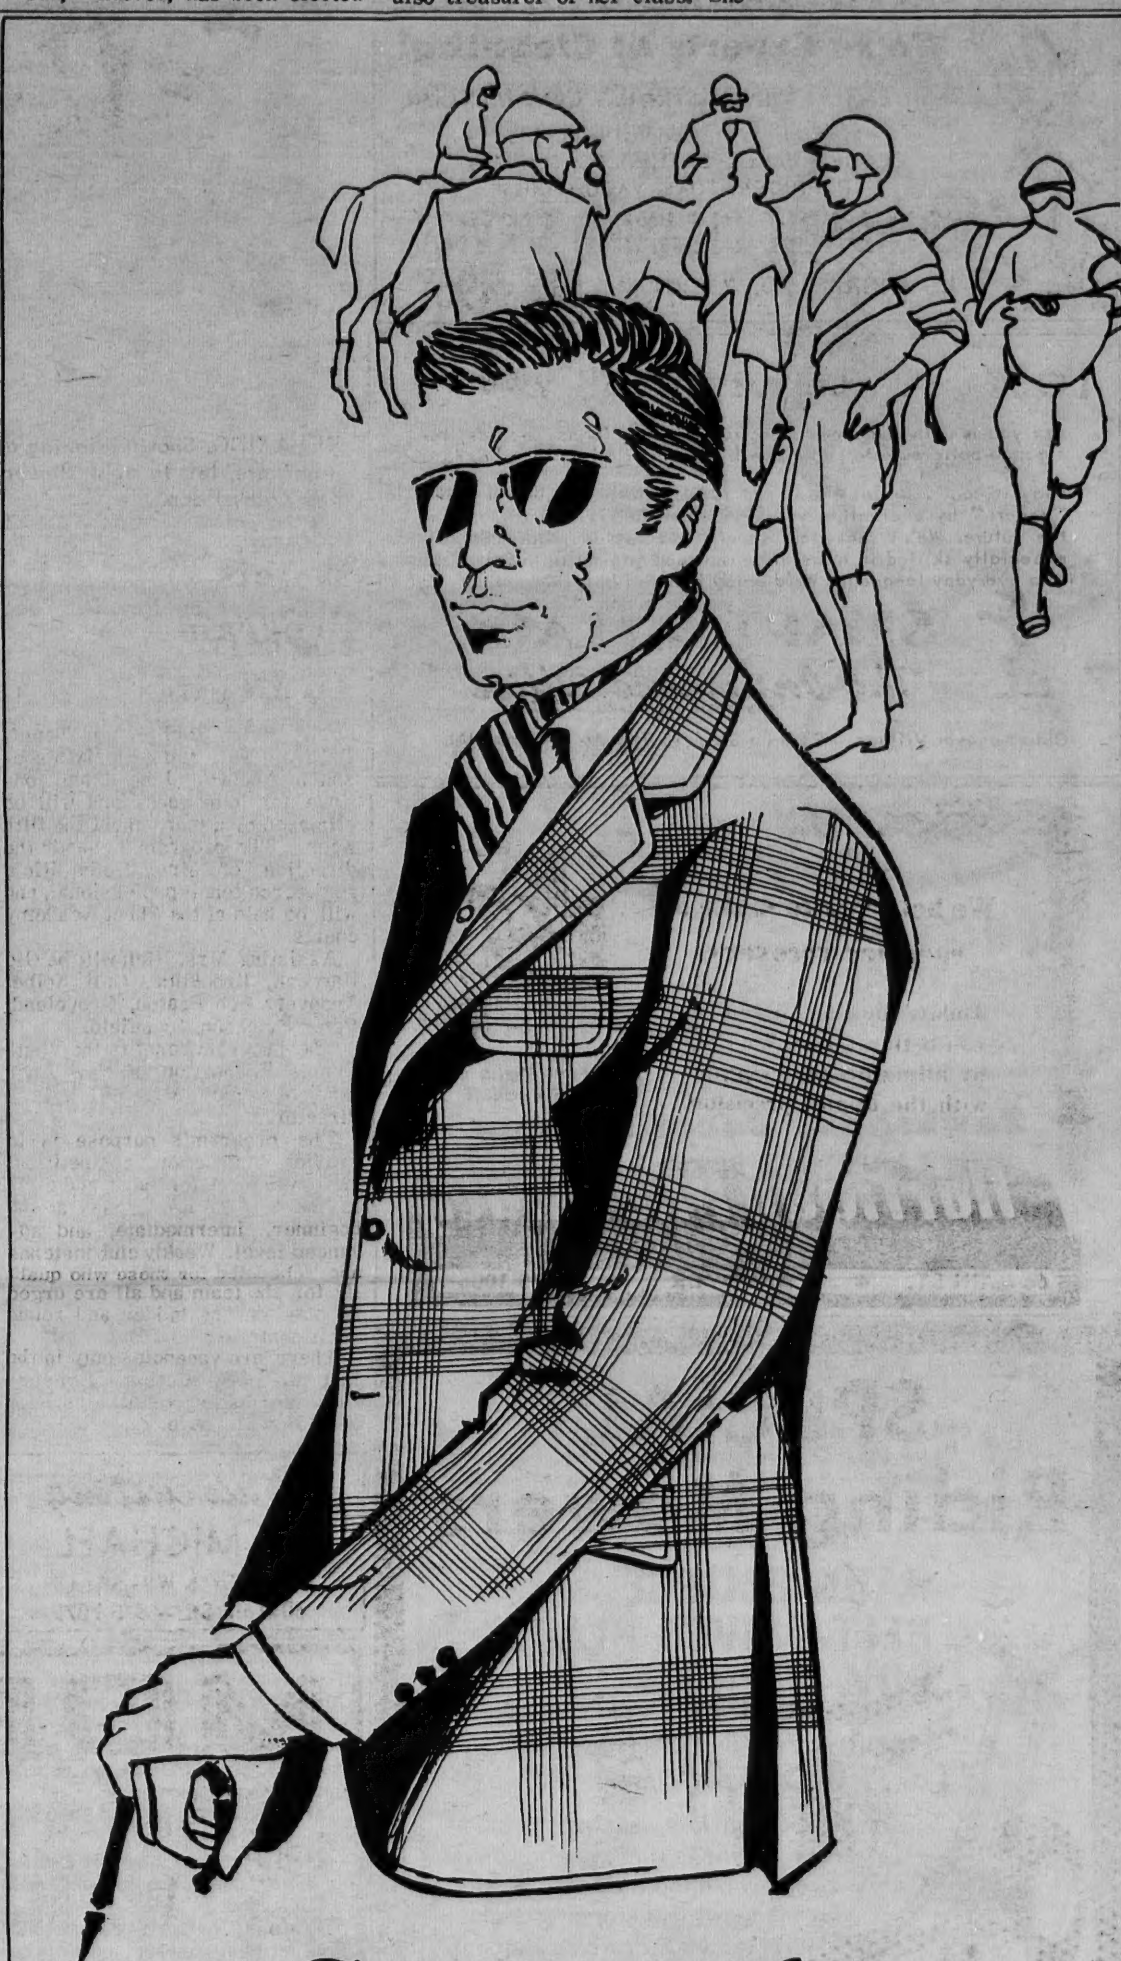

A Federal law of 1899 rules that a deposit of refuse into navigable waters is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $2500 and one year in prison for each offense.

The inspectors will go over the building to check safety factors, whether it is to be used as an inn or a dormitory.

Watters said that requests for licenses, such as an inn-holders, or similar, would be made public, so that the residents would be aware of what was going on.

One resident, Norman Barnes of Carisbrooke street, spoke in favor of the college, stating he could see no reason why the school could not locate there.

cern for the people who will be spending a good part of their lives in them. Both are schools of a positive character, schools which will continue to interest, delight, and instruct children for as long as they stand, largely by virtue of that extra quality and spirit that the communities were willing to seek and their architect able to deliver."

Jury comment on the Bancroft school was: "We found this building a great delight. Somehow it manages to be fanciful and imaginative within the child's context without becoming overly corny. We must admire a building that can find such rapport with its users and still survive as architecture. This is a very nervy building - in less capable hands it could have been a disaster, and deserves a special commendation for crawling out on architectural limbs."

no interest until recently. White also asked the group to look across the river where a strip of land about a mile long could probably be obtained.

White also wanted to check with counsel regarding the transfer of property.

Harold Rafton spoke at length on the subject and in summary said he did not want the selectmen to have the right to sell the property any time they want.

The conservationist noted that if it were in the hands of the Conservation commission it would be held for their purposes.

He reiterated that he didn't want the selectmen to be able to sell the land tomorrow.

White said he didn't feel this was the right approach.

He then moved that the matter be tabled until town counsel could be consulted.

He failed to receive a second.

Selectman Stewart moved that the board abide by its vote taken on April 26 when they decided to hold onto the lots and this was unanimously approved.

The Nation's long-standing shortage of teachers appears destined to turn into a surplus, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Job openings for elementary and high school teachers are estimated to total 2.4 million for the 1968-80 period. The output of trained teachers during these same years will reach 4.2 million.

TEEN-ADULT

To achieve these objectives, Rev. Mr. Woodman said, printed descriptions of the aims and program of Teenage-Adult Collaborative Committee are being circulated to the following organized youth communities of Andover: the sophomore and junior classes of the high school, the Andover students at our private schools, VoTech High and the 9th grade classes of our junior high schools.

Each of these groups is being asked to nominate representatives to a "youth assembly" which will meet on Monday evening, June 8 with David Hartl, a professional group leader who has helped other communities to set up similar youth-adult communication programs.

This assembly of approximately 40 teenagers will be asked to elect the 16 youth members of the Teenage-Adult Collaborative Committee. The elected youth members of the committee may or may not be persons in the youth assembly. That choice will rest entirely with the collective wisdom of the delegates.

The spirit which the Teenage-Adult Collaborative Program hopes to engender is evident in the words of the appeal being circulated among Andover's teenagers this week:

"Andover adults hope you find this project as exciting in its possibilities for new understanding as they do - and that you will give the idea your support, enthusiasm and leadership."

Discovering the Discipline And the Dignity of Real Work

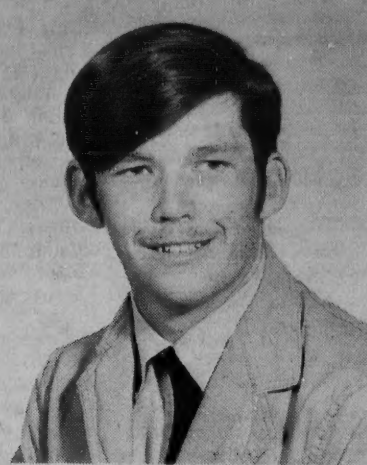

Down on the farm, back in the "good old days", children began to help with the daily chores at an early age.

In today's suburban living, the chores are few, work is often unknown and sometimes even impossible for our teenagers.

This creates free time which can be a problem. To prevent boredom, parents usually try to fill the void with various kinds of entertainment and play.

As an alternative, what the CO-OP does is to offer a few select boys part-time work.

At the CO-OP, our boys can develop the sense of pride which comes from participating in the economic life of the community and learning the economic facts of life. They become producers as well as consumers.

JOHN DILLON
South Main St., Andover

Under the efficient supervision of Ray Fuller, our general manager, you can be confident that our part-time boys are discovering both the discipline and the dignity which develop from doing real work.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Marjorie C. Kidd

"The Community and Your New Home"

Shopping for a new home? Ignore the house -- at least in the beginning.

First make sure that the community is right for you. Is it incorporated? If so, many things you take for granted are probably covered by taxes.

Check the taxes. Can you afford them? Have they been stable over a period of years?

Do you have children? Look the schools over. Are they modern and adequate for the population? If the answer is "no", your taxes may be greatly increased in the years to come to cover expansion of the school system.

Are the things which you take for granted in your present house within convenient distance in the new community? Perhaps you now walk to church, and you are very active in its activities. Make sure you will enjoy the same convenience at the new house -- or be prepared to go a greater distance in return for another amenity.

WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "CHOOSING A COMMUNITY"

Who handles all kinds of real estate? We do at BIXBY & COMPANY, INC. We will arrange for you to build or buy. Some of our services include a building program, inventory of lots and headquarters for Business Transferees. BIXBY & COMPANY, INC., "The Real Estate People", 125 Main St. (Rt. 28), 475-5608. ## Junior High Repairs Due; Stowe Won't Go

The latest news from the school system's bricks and mortar department is that East Junior High will undergo more repairs this summer, with safety items getting highest priority, and that Stowe School will be around awhile.

According to latest school and building committees plans, Stowe will house the school's administrative offices for a few years, with Jackson School, instead of Stowe, razed to provide space for the Central School addition.

The present administrative offices would be used for increased instructional areas in the latest plans which Architect Frank Crimp's office has presented to the Central School Building Committee.

The school superintendent and town manager held a conference at East Junior High on Tuesday, to determine the priorities for summer repair work at that building and Dr. Seifert met with East Junior High parents Wednesday night to inform them of plans.

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert responded to urgent requests from East Junior High administrators and parents for answers on school repair plans at the Education Town Meeting May 11. He pointed out that whatever the eventual destiny of the building, it would be a junior high for the next four years, since it takes that long to develop and build a replacement he said the building would be repaired, since "the kids that go through East junior high for the next four years only go to junior high once," and pointed out that $200,000 of the repair money appropriated by the town for repair of East still was available.

They also reported that league delegates from throughout the United States presented a total of 1,200,000 signatures to their senators urging Congress to adopt a constitutional amendment which would give Congressional representation to Washington, D.C.

Canoe Trip Planned

A 16-day wilderness canoe trip up the Allagash River in Maine by the Student Activity Center and its Outing Club, is tying in with the school department for educational as well as recreational aims, and seeks financial sponsorship from the community.

A car wash today at the high school, between the main building and the gym, and a cookie and punch sale at another date, have been planned by students to raise money for camping equipment which can become permanent equipment for future Student Activity Center outing trips.

SAC Director James Carroll said that William Unsoeld of Outward Bound will be halfway point advisor, along with high school teacher, Jerry Lane. Ken Jen Lee of the physical education department will head up the pickup party, when the group has finished up the Allagash River, or vice versa. Mr. and Mrs. Hawks are responsible for the departure of the group on June 8.

Joseph Newell is the leader of the student group planning to take the trip, which includes John Dubrule, Bill Poleatewitch, Dawn Marshall, and Devi Unsoeld, with Brad Lawson, of the high school and SAC staff as adult advisor.

Anyone interested in helping to sponsor the group in seriously tackling a 16 day challenge from the wilderness and white water rapids, portaging, may contact SAC Director James Carroll at the high school.

The Red Sox posted a pair of victories this week in the Andover American Little League, widening their first-place lead over the defending Town Champion Twins to a game-and-a-half through action last Monday.

The Red Sox struggled to an eight inning 9-6 triumph over the upset-minded Yankees, and then came back to belt the third-place Tigers, 8-3.

In other contests this week, Bill Alexander fired his second one-hitter of the year as the Twins blanked the Indians, 3-0. Kurt Anderson and Bob Hannon combined to hurl the Tigers to a 5-1 win over the Twins.

The Yankees continued their heavy slugging with a 13-3 romp over the White Sox, but the White Sox rebounded to edge the Indians, 4-2, behind the steady pitching of Brian White.

A key game last Tuesday evening, after TOWNSMAN presstime, had the Red Sox facing the Twins for the second time this season.

Manager Charlie Conlon's Twins handed the Red Sox their only loss (4-0) earlier in the season, and needed to beat the Sox again to remain in contention for the title. A Red Sox triumph would put them three games in front, with only six contests remaining.

Red Sox 9, Yankees 6 - This was a typical free-wheeling Red Sox-Yankee slugfest, with the Sox finally winning out in the eighth inning.

Ken Loffredo was the winning hurler in relief of Labeab Abboud. Abboud started the game, pitching three innings and fanning six batters. Loffredo tossed the final five innings and whiffed nine men. The Yanks used four pitchers. Thom Lawler was the starter, but Dave Bronson came on in the final inning and took the loss.

Jody McLaughlin was 2-for-2 with a pair of RBIs for the Red Sox, and Richard Rossetti was the batting hero with a two-run double that chased across the winning markers in the eighth inning.

Nine-year-old Eric Ketzler also drilled a run-producing single up-the-middle for the Sox, while Paul Lockwood laced a brace of singles and Billy Martin cracked a double.

Jay Doherty unloaded a solo homerun for the Yanks, while Darryl Gustafson cracked a pair of two-baggers for the losers.

Billy Martin turned in an excellent defensive effort at catcher for the Red Sox, while Bobby Hoelzel made several fine grabs in centerfield for the Yankees.

The Yanks pulled out to a 3-0 lead after three innings, but the Sox came up with five runs in the fourth.

Tigers 5, Twins 1 - Manager Maury LaPointe's Tigers continued their mastery over the Twins, beating that club and pitcher Glenn Verrette for the second time this season.

Right-handed fireballer Kurt Anderson and left-hander Bob Hannon split the pitching chores for the Tigers - each hurling three innings.

Anderson allowed one hit and fanned six during his stint, while Hannon surrendered two safeties and struck out three. Thus, the pair combined for a three-hitter while fanning nine Twins.

Glenn Verrette fired a four-hitter and set eight Tigers down on strikes in a losing effort.

Hannon helped his own cause with an opposite-field, two-run homer in the fifth. Bob MacMackin contributed a long double for the Tigers. Glenn Verrette and Bill Alexander each had a single for the Twins.

Yankees 13, White Sox 3 - Jay Doherty twirled a five-hitter and fanned 10 batters to spark the Yanks to their fourth victory in five games.

Darryl Gustafson continued to sting the ball with a solo homerun and two singles for the Yankees. Thom Lawler chipped in with a double and two singles for the winners. Brian Feeney went 2-for-2, Bob Hoelzel cracked two hits, and Kenny LaFleur sandwiched a base hit around several walks.

Chris Crampton struck out six men for the White Sox. Chris also belted a double and single at the plate, while Timmy Brownlie, Dave Mirisola and Tom Henderson added singles for the Sox.

The Yanks scored consistently in every inning, putting the game out of reach with four runs in the fifth frame.

Twins 3, Indians 0 - Bill Alexander, in upping his record to 3-1, whiffed 12 of 18 batters to defeat the Indians. Bill has now pitched a no-hitter and two one-hitters in four starts.

Red-hot Jerry Stabile kept his average around the .650 mark with a double and single for the Twins. Alexander and Hugh Conlon both delivered two-baggers, while singles were added by Glenn Verrette (.400), Rhett Mundy, George Bragdon, Frank Pierro and Dave Rosenberg.

Mark Lalonde was the losing chucker for the Indians, fanning four men and walking just one in a fine effort. Danny Lynch punched out a fourth inning single for the Indians' lone safety. Gerry Cox was a defensive standout at second base for the losers, robbing Mark Conlon of a base hit.

Red Sox 8, Tigers 3 - Richard Rosetti fashioned a fine three-hitter and fanned nine batters as the Red Sox dropped the Tigers for the second straight time.

Kurt Anderson and Bob Hannon shared the Tiger hurling duties. Anderson, the loser, fanned eight men in three innings. Hannon whiffed four Sox. They didn't walk a batter, and gave up seven hits.

Mark Ketzler and Ken Loffredo paced the winners with 2-for-3 apiece. Billy Martin contributed a clutch single, Ketzler scored three runs, Steve Wilkins had a two-run triple and Loffredo drove in two runs.

Bob MacMackin banged out a pair of singles and Danny LaPointe added one safety for the Tigers. John O'Brien, Jody McLaughlin and Ketzler were defensive stars for the Red Sox.

White Sox 4, Indians 2 - Brian White tossed a six-hitter and struck out four in his first start of the year for the White Sox.

Mark Hamilton and Brian Flannery sparked the winning attack with a pair of singles apiece.

Mike Scheinefein was the losing hurler. Dave Birnbach hammered out two hits for the Indians, while George Starks chipped in with a double.

This week - The schedule for this week is: Tonight - Indians vs. Red Sox; Friday - White Sox - Twins; Saturday - Indians - Yankees; Monday - Tigers - Twins; Tuesday - Yankees - Red Sox; Wednesday - White Sox - Indians.

Pitching stars of the week - Bill Alexander, Richard Rosetti.

Hitting stars of the week - Richard Rosetti, Bob Hannon, Darryl Gustafson, Jay Doherty, Eric Ketzler.

American Minor

The Bruins took over first place this week while all the leaders were hard pressed by the other teams which are showing great improvement. The Yankees again provided excitement by a 2 - 1 victory over the Athletics on a seventh inning home run by Mitchell Rousseau.

In other close action the Patriots remained in fourth place with three victories, including a tight 16 to 12 win over the Tigers. The Senators see-sawed past the Angels by 12 to 9, then lost to the Red Sox 13 - 10, and settled for an 8 - 8 tie with the Orioles.

The Twins nipped the hustling Red Sox 8 to 6 to gain ground in the standings while the Athletics salvaged an 11 to 11 tie with the Angels. The Bruins fell into first place with ten runs in a wild last inning to beat the Yankees 19 to 18. Standings as of May 25:

Bruins	7 - 1

Great Books Course Completed

Twenty-four Andover people, including ten high school juniors, have successfully completed the eight-week Junior Great Books Leader Training Course held recently at Memorial Hall Library. The course was offered tuition-free by the Great Books Foundation and training materials were provided by the Andover Public Schools and St. Augustine's School in which the newly trained leaders will volunteer their time and skills.

Receiving certification as Great Books discussion leaders were: Mrs. Harry Collins, Mrs. Roger Davis, Mrs. Robert DesRoches, Mrs. Paul Dow, Mrs. George Farrell, Mrs. James Flynn, Mrs. Norman Guild, Mrs. Anthony Iacobo, Mrs. George Lemaitre, Mrs. Adrian Pallone, Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. Lawrence Spiegel, Mrs. Franklin Swain, Jr., Mrs. Herbert Tatelman, Kris Bowen, Marsha Cohen, Tom Cornwell, Susan Cox, Joy Fogg, Mary Jane King, Gail Morreo, Pamela Normandy, Christine Sanderson and Diane Steen.

These certified leaders will join the current force of Junior Great Books leaders in co-leading discussion groups in the elementary and junior high schools next fall, when students meet in small groups to discuss and evaluate great literature read in advance. Group participants, who meet twice a month during school time, are encouraged to read more accurately and critically, to communicate ideas more clearly and intelligently, and to listen to the opinions of one another with respect and understanding.

Andover is a pioneer in the program of training high school students in the technique of leading Junior Great Books groups in the elementary grades. The skills acquired by student leaders will aid in their own continuing education as well as that of the younger participants of the discussion groups. With the sanction of parents and faculty, the students voluntarily assumed the responsibility of working out their own class schedules to include the Junior Great Books program.

Students Visit In Montreal

During the past weekend, three members of the Pike school faculty and 17 eighth and ninth grade boys and girls traveled to Montreal. The trip re-inaugurated what ten years ago had become an annual journey to stimulate interest among the students in using the French language which they had been studying at school. From the time the boys and girls cross the Canadian border on the way to Canada until they return to United States territory, they pledge to speak nothing but French in order to communicate with each other and with Canadian citizens.

The group stayed at the Holiday Inn in the center of Montreal while visiting places of interest in the area. All boys and girls have gained a measure of fluency in the use of the language during their course of study varying from three to four years for each student who made the trip.

Faculty members who served as guides included Mrs. Keith Chisholm, Mrs. Joseph Hurka, and Mr. William H. Y. Stevens. The members of the French classes who participated were: Elizabeth Bolton, Terri Samel, Amy Dunbar, Ellen Kittredge, Ann Randazzo, Sharon Stevens, Alfred Daniels, Robert Paladino, Don Pope, Timothy Segal, Stephen Andrews, Timothy Caverly, Richard Gordon, Lee Hershfield, Michael Muto, Bruce Perry, and Mark Tay.

away from the earth, causing the star to appear more blue or more red respectively. The so-called "red shift" is an important indication to the astronomer of the star's speed and distance.

Drug Education Groups Form

Seven task forces on drug abuse in Andover have grown out of the early May community meeting on "Drug Abuse in Andover, 1970".

Townpeople interested in helping by serving on any of the task forces are invited to a Monday June 1 meeting at South Church at 8 p.m., says Rev. J. Everett Bodge, chairman of Andover Adults Concerned Over Drug Abuse. Here task forces will report their objectives, and progress already made, and make long term plans.

Rev. Bodge emphasized that all the task forces will welcome the support and interest of new members at that time, and that the more people are concerned enough to involve themselves, the more effective the community will be in facing the drug abuse problem.

Mrs. Richard Moody is assistant chairman of the general group,

Mrs. Richard Bartle is secretary, and the task forces have the following leaders:

I. Petition Circulation: Mrs. John Tiernan, 6 Hemlock Road, chairman.

II. Programs: Mrs. William Gosselin, 87 Haverhill Street, chairman, Mrs. Philip Vondell, 51 Maple Avenue, secretary.

III. Legislation: Mrs. Roland West, 27 Lovejoy Road, chairman.

IV. Drug Education: Gordon Green, 87 Durso Avenue, Lawrence, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheahan, 19 School Street, secretaries.

V. Youth Involvement: Richard White, 27 Bartlett Street, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mahon, 131 Main Street, secretaries.

VI. Recreation, Drop-In: Mrs. George Kwass, 10 Porter Road, chairman. Shady Wood, A-4 Colonial Drive, secretary.

VII. Family and Community Relationships: Mrs. Manuel Silva, 31 Stevens Street, chairman. Mrs. John Howard, 16 Bowdoin Road, secretary.

The legislative task force has already begun gathering support by petition and by contacting legislators, for House Bill 1331 filed on behalf of Dr. O'Shea to allow drug treatment without waiting parental consent. The drug education task force is meeting this week with Superintendent Kenneth Seifert and Abbot Headmaster Donald Gordon, while the Youth Involvement task force has begun meetings with 15 - 20 young people.

Community members are urged to contact the chairman or secretary of a particular task force they are interested in helping, before the meeting, or to come to the meeting to find which task forces to join.

Appointments Announced

Carroll W. Bailey of Mount Hermon School will become assistant dean of students at Phillips Academy in September, it has been announced by John M. Kemper, headmaster.

Mr. Bailey is one of fourteen new instructors who will join the faculty. Another six will become teaching fellows, according to Mr. Kemper.

In addition to his administrative duties, Mr. Bailey also will teach English. He fills the slot now occupied by William R. Bennett, who will become executive assistant to the headmaster.

Others who will teach English include: Francis E. Bellizia, resident director of Greylock, A Better Chance Program, Williams-town; Paul Kalkstein, Choate School; Peter F. Dzwonkoski, Jr., Indiana University; James L. Keegan, Pingree School; Stephen P. Marx, Colorado Academy and Jack S. Zukor, Babson College.

The following will be French instructors: Catherine Y. Kirkland, Abbot; Jean Renaud, France and Cambodia, and Henry Wilmer, North Carolina schools.
